Week Ending: October 24, 2014

- Global Hunger Awareness - NMSU's Meal Plan program assures students, and their parents, that they will be guaranteed healthy meals each and every day while living on campus. But for too many, daily meals are hard to come by. To bring attention to this problem, Sodexo Campus Dining, in cooperation with NMSU Housing & Campus Life, hosted the 2nd annual Oxfam Hunger Banquet on Wednesday, Oct. 22. There were no lectures here! Student, faculty, and staff participants, free of charge, were randomly chosen to enjoy a meal that proportionally reflects the real life circumstances for billions of people across the earth, both the affluent and the impoverished.
- Legislative Hearings - were held October 20 and 21 in the Pan Am Center by the NMSU Governmental Affairs Office. Sessions were open to the public. Over 100 people attended over the two day event.
- The Men's Collegiate Golf Invitational was held this week at the NMSU Golf course with 14 universities from around the country participating. The event was won by the NMSU Men's Golf Team with Texas State finishing second.
- 5 Ways to Improve Your Cyber Security --- Video now available - As part of NMSU's continuing Cyber Security Awareness Month activities, ICT's Information Security staff and Student Technology group have released a short video that shows five easy ways to improve the security of personal and NMSU information. - Megan Cochrane awarded ICT's Golden Scooper Award - ICT's latest Golden Scooper recipient is Megan Cochrane of ICT's Financial Operations department. The award is presented to the ICT staff member who, through course of action, best represents those attributes of recently retired Chief Information Officer, Shaun the "Scooper" Cooper: leadership, fellowship, mentorship, integrity, intelligence, humor, ingenuity, and a knack for mischief. Megan was selected by the prior holder of the award, Araceli Hernandez. Araceli states, "Megan possess not only a great sense of humor and laughter that could wake the dead, but she has been a significant resource for me with any question I've had for the Business Office. She is always helpful and has a positive outlook on any situation." Congrats Megan!
