

New Mexico State University
Administration and Finance
A&F Weekly Report – Week Ending 6/19/2015

- Sun Country PGA Junior Tour - Over 50 juniors competed in different age groups at the NMSU Golf Course. Preparations are being made for next weekend's New Mexico / West Texas Amateur Golf Championship which will attract the best amateur competitors in the area.
- New Playground for Preciado Park - The new playground equipment has been installed at Preciado Park. This replaces the equipment which was removed last year due to safety concerns. Grounds department managed the contract for Exer Play to install the equipment and they performed the final fill work with fibar chips.
- Supporting NMSU - Operations personnel attended the AGGIE Welcome & Orientation meeting this week. The meeting was designed to bring all of the support organizations together and discuss actions for making Aggie Welcome & Orientation a positive event for the incoming students and their families. Facilities Operations will be focusing on campus appearance and providing a comfortable environment for the event.
- Campus Summer Conferences - This week the national conference of the Campus Ministry Leadership Institute is being held on campus. The event includes 90 student leaders and campus ministers from Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York, Colorado, and California. Campus Ministry Leadership Institute is a training and working institute that includes team building, project development, and networking. Participants are spending time in Corbett Center Student Union and staying in Pinon Hall on campus. The Western States School of Banking was also on campus with 55 banking professionals from the western region participating in a 2-week intensive workshop in Domenici Hall.
- Author Reading - The Barnes & Noble at NMSU Bookstore & Café in Las Cruces was pleased to host a special presentation by author E.J. Runyon on her uncompromising book, "A House of Light & Stone."
